Liuto forte in d ("Bach-Lute")

16-stringed: Basic Tuning: E flat G A B flat C D E F G A Bflat (or c) d f a d' f'

String-dispositions: 12 fingerboard strings, 4 bourdon strings (BWV 996, 999, 1006a and two Passion Arias) or 10 fingerboard strings, 6 bourdon strings (BWV 995, 997, 998 and 1000)

Modifications of this basic tuning are required for the execution of BWV 1006a, 997 and 998 (without changing strings). They do not create any problem if you play from the tablature. Works 995, 997 and 998 were composed after 1727 for an instrument with 10 fingerboard and 6 bourdon strings (the string disposition of an Angélique). However, they can also be played in the arrangement with 12 fingerboard strings and four bourdon strings. Since the instrument has 12 pegs in the first pegbox and six (or eight) pegs in the second pegbox, both arrangements are possible.

We offer this instrument with a liuto-forte top construction as well as a copy of the historical model:

Liuto forte: fingerboard strings 59 cm, bourdon strings 84 cm, 13 ribs, a' = 440 Hz

Copy of historical model: fingerboard strings 57,5 cm, bourdon strings 82cm, 15 ribs, a' = 415 Hz

Both models have: single stringing, slight fingerboard curvature, 14 fixed frets (Liuto forte: fixed frets, copy of the historical model: movable frets), one rose, wider body

Body wood Liuto forte: East Indian rosewood or maple

Copy of the historical model: Bubinga (Guibourtia demensi)
